DETAILED ACTIONClaim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in claim the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 5, 6, 9, 11, 12, 15, 16, 19, 21 and 23 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Qian (USP 6,512,352). Qian discloses the claimed invention a coupled inductor with first, N1, and second, N2, windings connected in series to form a common node, a conduction switch, S1, and a freewheeling switch, S2, the inductor is formed on a single core, and an output capacitor, Co. See figure below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3, 4 and 13, 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Qian (USP 6,512,352). Qian discloses the claimed invention except for turn ratios of the inductor devices. It would have been an obvious matter of engineering design choice to have a turns ratio of two, since applicant has not disclosed that a turns ratio of two solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with any other turn ratio configuration.

5. Claims 7 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Qian (USP 6,512,352) in view of Boeckman et al. (USP 6,184,666). Qian discloses the claimed invention except for the independently controlled parallel switches. Boeckman discloses that it is known in the art to provide the independently controlled parallel switches. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to provide the independently controlled parallel switches of Boeckman with the controlled inductive switching circuit of Qian, in order to reduce the heated generated by either switch when in operation to create a redundancy to handled higher voltages and reduces the failure rate of the switches.

6. Claims 10, 22, 20, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Qian (USP 6,512,352) in view of Yang et al. (USP 6,404,175). Qian discloses the claimed invention except for the parallel-connected voltage regulators with the phase controller. Yang discloses that it is known in the art to provide the parallel-connected voltage regulators with the phase controller. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to provide the parallel-connected voltage regulators with the phase controller of Yang with the controlled inductive switching circuit of Qian, in order provide a controlled current sharing and current balancing techniques achieved by utilizing the parallel-connected voltage regulators with the phase controller.

7. Claims 8, 18 and 25-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Qian (USP 6,512,352) in view of Dwelley et al. (USP 6,166,527). Qian discloses the claimed invention except for the on-time conduction controller with multi-level gate driver circuit. Dwelley discloses that it is known in the art to provide the on-time conduction controller with multi-level gate driver circuit. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to provide with the controlled inductive switching circuit of Qian with the on-time conduction controller with multi-level gate driver circuit of Dwelley, in order to provide a controlled switching scheme that conserves power by driving less than all the switches when the input voltage is higher or lower than the output voltage.
